GRADE POINT AVERAGES

The academic proficiency of students is assessed according to the final GPA a student attains by the end of each semester. The total ECTS credits that a student receives from any course is derived by multiplying the ECTS credits of the relevant course with the numerical value assigned to the letter grade received by the student for the course. The overall semester GPA (SGPA) is calculated by dividing the total number of ECTS credits received from all the courses taken by a student during the semester with the total ECTS credits for the courses taken.

The general grade point average (GPA) is calculated by dividing the total number of ECTS credits earned from all the courses that a student has registered for throughout their education with the total number of ECTS credits for all the courses to which the student registered over this same period of time.

In order for students to be considered as honor students or high honor students they must have received no disciplinary punishment nor any failing grades (F, FX or U) during the relevant semester. They must have received a minimum of 30 ECTS credits. Students who have a SGPA of between 3.00 and 3.49 will be considered honor students and students with a SGPA of greater than 3.50 are considered high honor students.

GRADUATION

Students who successfully accrue at least 120 ECTS credits during their associate program or at least 240 ECTS credits throughout undergraduate programs, who maintain a GPA of at least 2.00 and meet all other requirements be awarded a diploma and a transcript of the program they are registered to will be provided.
